MOYER WANTS MORE TROUBLE.

(BI THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

DENVER (Colo.) Oct. 9.—Telegrams have passed between the officials of the Western Federation of Miners and President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, looking to a complete tie-up of all bituminous-coal mines in the United States and Canada. The telegram of President Moyer and Secretary Haywood of the Western Federation, says:

"Exigencies demand that no coal of any kind be mined in the United States and Canada until the anthracite strike is won. The Western Federation of Miners will coöperte to this end."

Mr. Mitchell's response says: "Telegram received. Shall give careful consideration to your suggestion. Many thanks for the proffer of cooperation and assistance."

"The significance of this correspondence," said President Moyer, "Is far reaching. It means that if President Mitchell will call out all his men in every soft and hard-coal mine in this country and Canada, the Western Federation of Minners will immediately coöperate with them, and withdraw every man we nave in the coal fields of the West, Northwest and Canada. And this will mean that the stubbrn mine operators in Pennsylvania will have to bring this long strike to an end, or the people through the country will know the reason why. This is the only way to end the trouble."

MASS MEETING CALLED.

(BY, THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Three committees of citizens, representing the merchants, manufacturers and the Board of Trade of this city, in joint conference, have decided to call a mass meeting, to be held next Monday evening in Carnegle Music Hall, to discuss means of getting coal to the city. It was resolved that discussion on the merits of either side in the strike should be discouraged, and the main question of getting coal would be the only one considered.

Corsets Built for Style and Comfort

If there is any one thing which spoils the effect of a good gown or a pretty waist it is an illiftting corset. Every woman appreciates this, but every woman cannot wear the same style corset. There is a make of corset which comes nearer to perfection in fitting the human form and yet embodies all the newness of style more than any other, and that is.—The "Royal Regent," for which we are exclusive agents in Los Angeles. We also carry complete lines of several other popular corsets, among the most favored of which is the well-known brand, "C. P." So before getting your new waist or dress, buy a pair of these corsets and have the new garments fitted over them, and you will have no adverse criticism to make.

parted with the chimney corners themselves. Who could expect to find a grandmamma of the old-fashioned typensconced in the lee of a radiator or toasting her toes at a gas log or an asbestos-lined-mack fireplace? The times and the surroundings and the old ladies have all changed together. In some respects the change has been for the better. The modern ways of Seating houses are 'surely less pictorisely, and we are not sure that they are not a good deal less healthful than the old-time devices, but they are certainly labor-savers for the women who see the work, and while the grandmothers of today may be of less value from an artistic standpoint, they are probably rather happier than the majority of the old women of a couple of generations back. The woman who has passed 60 and even 70 is not laid on the shelf or retired to the chimney corner nowadays. Instead of this, she is taking her place in clubs and movements for social improvement, and is lending to these the weight of her experience and observation.

DRESS SHOULD SUIT AGE.

A COSTUME OF CONTRADICTIONS

woman should not have put on a short skirt when she was going out to a so-cial function. In the second place, she should not have worn a shirt waist of any sort at such a place, and a belt, even a narrow one, was a fatal mistake for anyone inclined, as she was, to embonpoint. In the third place, the collar of superb lace was an atrocious contrast to the cheap waist. The whole costume was made up of contradictions that were enough to set one's teeth on edge.

tions that were enough to set one's teeth on edge.

If this woman, who had money enough to dress as she pleased, had worn a whole costume of some soft white or soft black stuff, made with a basque rather than with a belt, and had put on a pretty soft stock or ruche at her throat inserad of the lace, which should have been reserved to go with sliks and velvets, she would have presented a far more attractive appearance, and would, moreover, have been dressed in good taste.

OVERDRESSED STOUT WOMEN. OVERDRESSED STOUT WOMEN. Let me give another instance. I was it a reception not long ago with a woman well over 50. She was very woman well over 50. She was very large and her stoutness was of the kind that leaps at the eyes. Her rotundity was incased in a flowered silk of a striking pattern—large green blossoms and leaves straggling over a white ground. She filled all the foreground of the picture, so to speak, and her size was emphasized to a painful degree.

ground of the picture, so to speak, and her size was emphasized to a painful degree.

It may not be out of place to stop and ask just here why women with an inclination to overmuch flesh have such a penchant for buying dress materials of startling design. The conspicuous gown which a beautiful young woman with a perfect figure might carry off is chosen by the grandmother of portly dimensions and faded complexion. Such contrasts lay a stress upon the very pecularities and weaknesses it should be the study to conceal, or at least to diminish.

Another woman of ripe years I saw, no longer ago than last summer, disfigured by an attempt to imitate the natty neckwear of her young daughter. Around her throat she wore a collar which one suspected had been fliched from the stock of her son or her husband. It was a standing collar with points turned down in front to display a neck to which time had been unkind. About the collar was fastene a made-up four-in-hand the of a brilliant scarlet. The effect was both laughable and pitiful. The spectator wondered why some kind relative had not put a veto upon the combination.

OLD LADIES RESENT CRITICISM. Yet this is thore easily suggested than done.

Yet this is more easily suggested than done. A woman becomes sensi-tive about her looks as she goes on in is likely to fall into one of two mis-takes. If she is one of the "up-and-coming" kind she dresses as she feels— not as she looks. This means that she puts on dressy garments in the pre-vailing mode for women much her junior, chiefly because she thinks the goods or the fashlon pleasing and does not reflect that they may not be suit-able for a woman of her years. Or she is one of the kind who become thoughtless about their dress as they

GETTING CARELESS IN DRESS.

The woman who is careless of her sostume should try to bring herself to the point of believing that a woman never gets past the age when it is her duty to look attractive. If the iron be dull a man must put to it more strength, and if a woman has lost the charm of youth she must take more pains to render herself pleasing to the eye. Not that she should spend a great casional extravagance of a white wool gown.

There are some cities where such daintinesses are out of the question. Soft coal is fatal to white gowns. But even then the elderly lady may make herself charming. I have in mind one who is now verging on 82, whose house costume for the past twenty-five years has been of a sweeping soft silk, made in princess fashion, and finished at the throat with delicate laces. On her head she wears a little cap of the same dainty lace, and she always looks as if she had just stepped out of a picture.

THE QUESTION OF EXPENSE.

Here is the time for vigorous protest from a large contingent of readers. I can hear them: "We, too, would like to wear white gowns and flowing silks and priceless laces," they say. "But we cannot afford the price. And if we could they would be very much out of place in our work. We are busy women, with a certain amount we must accomplish in our homes, even if we are well along in years. Short skirts and shirt waists are the most convenient garb for us, and we cannot change them for the sake of looking pretty."

Altogether true. Every woman who has ever kept a house knows that there are occasions when trailing garments and flowing sleeves are woefully in the way. Under those circumstances one must dress for one's work. Long gowns are as much out of place then as they would be in a gymnasium or on, the street in a pouring rain.

LET DRESS SUIT OCCUPATION.

But let a woman dress for her work THE QUESTION OF EXPENSE.

LET DRESS SUIT OCCUPATION.
But let a woman dress for her work when she is working, and dress for the part when she is "playing lady" or engaged in the occupations with which frills do not interfere. If she has a room to sweep or dishes to wash or bread to make, she may put on the short skirt and the shirt waist, or have a neat wrapper made that fits snugly and is not long enough to touch the floor. But when that sort of work is out of the way, and the time comes to dress and sit down to sew or to knit or to read, she should try to have her costume something soft and pretty and appropriate.

The convenience of a shirt waist has made it a dreadful snare to women at charm of youth she must take more pains to render herself pleasing to the eye. Not that she should spend a great deal of time and money on her cost tume when she can ill afford either. But neither time nor money will be wasted which is given to the choice of suitable and becoming dress.

There are many things the elderly woman can wear that are peculiarly her own. She should make up her mind that there are many other hings which she must put behind her. She has had to do that already in certain respects. She probably did not suffer much when she appreciated the fact that her dancing days were over or ber athletic days or the days in which she abit and their days in which she come a bit of a bore further on. Why should she so revoit against accepting the truth that there are fabrics and styles that are no longer for her? She has had hed day, and if she has not ceased to be, she has at least reached a point where various vanities of early years may with propriety be exchanged folds in a distressingly short space of time.

My sympathles go out to the women thus struggling. But the way is made-easier for them now than ever before. The pretty little turn-over collars that are so happily popular are neat, cheap and launder readily if they do become witted. They are not hot and suit nearly every one. For the women who can wear it nothing is more becoming than a fichu or fold of soft mull or tulle about the neck. If a wash goods can be used it reduces the expense greatly, and a touch of white like this is becoming to every one. It should not matter to the elderly lady whether such a neck rig is in the height of fashion or not.

LEAVE NOVELTIES ALONE. LEAVE NOVELTIES ALONE.

The sensible old lady will not think of keeping up with the latest fashions. She will find out what suits her and adhere closely to it. Not for her are the frivolous big hats, the very tight skirts, the ultra high collar that the ultra modish dames of society wear, with no regard to age or suitabibility. She pays as little heed to all that sort of thing as she does to the change from of thing as she does to the change from of thing as she does to the change from pointed to square toes and back again. She knows what is becoming to her. She has given the matter study and decided upon it. A certain amount of respect she pays to styles, and after that she goes her own way and leaves

In tomorrow's Times Edumund J James, president of Northwestern Uni versity, will relate the story of im-portant decisions in his career. Made a Good Guess

She was an amateur artist, and, like most of her kind, considerd herself several laps in advance of the average amateur. She was eager, however, to know how her work would impress one of the masters who had managed to grasp noke tame by the back of the neck.

One day a real painter called at her home, and she immediately concelved the idea of testing him. She would show him a specimen of her handiwork, but would reveal nothing that might lead him to suspect her as being the creator thereof. So the fair amateur proceeded to guide the real painter toward her masterpiece.

"Of what school would you call this painting?" she asked, expectantly.
"Of the boarding school," promptly replied the real painter.—[Spare Moments.

IST THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-AM.)
CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—The cost of living has been discussed before the Arbitration Committee sifting the grievances of the employs of the Union Traction Company. Tables, presented in behalf of the men, showed that the price of thirty-seven necessary articles had gone up and fifteen decreased, while the street car men have worked at the same wage for sixteen years.

The average advance in the cost of living was given at 40 per cent. In five years. Meats showed an advance ranging from 5 to 35 per cent. While no estimate could be placed on coal. The men urged that this heavy increase in the cost of living, and the advance made in other trades should be weighed when the question of giving them a higher wage scale is taken into consideration.

INTERSTATE-CONFERENCE. LUCE ELECTED CHAIRMAN.

DETROIT, Oct. 8.-At 10 o'clock to-Hampahire, Ohlo, Wisconsin, New York, Iowa, Minnesota and the District of Columbia.

The conference was called to order by Mayor Maybury. Ex-Gov. Cyrus G. Luce of Michigan was elected chairman. In calling the conference to order, Mayor Maybury said:

"A common cause calls us together the health and comfort of our homes and our places of business. We of Detroit have no special plan to present to you. We perefer that whatever is done, whatever action is taken, be at the suggestion of the convention. If there is no law sufficient to compass the complete difficulty, the sooner we have a law, the better. If the Constitution prevents any action being taken by the government against the coal companies, the sooner it is made to fit the needs of the people the better, but even if there is no law under which the present shortage of coal can be remedied, there is the supreme law, the law of self-preservation. We not only want to cure the present difficulty that besets us, but we want to suggest those remedies that will cure it for all time."

INT THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.E.]

DETROIT. Oct. 3.—The interstate conference on the coal situation adopted resolutions tonight, after much debata, urging the President to institute civil proceedings looking to the enforcement of the interstate commerce act against the coal companies, and criminal proceedings against their efficiency in the coal companies, and criminal proceedings against their efficients of the thick of the coal-carrying railroads and sufficient of the mines to supply the demands of the people.

Further, the resolutions petition the President to call a special session of the House of Representatives, and to recommend to the House of the strike, and to recommend to the House of the strike, and to place the blame therefor.

A supplemental resolution, offered by Judge Frank E. Garvin of Indianapolis, was also adopted and ordered by Judge Frank E. Garvin of Indianapolis, was also adopted and ordered attached to the main resolutions. It urges that the President at once institute proceedings to dissolve "The present combination of the coal operators," and to have a receiver appointed to operate the mines. The supplemental report urges a special session of Congress if it is impossible at present for the Fresident to take this action.

GENERAL STRIKE

DECLARED IN SWITZERLAND.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—[By Atlantic Ca-LONDON, Oct. 2.—[By Atlantic Cable.] A dispatch from Geneva, Switzerland, today announces that the Workmen's National Committee has decreed a general strike throughout Switzerland in sympathy with the Geneva street-car employes. Troops are held in readiness to deal with any disorder. The strike was proclaimed by the committee by a vote of 200 to 4. All the men connected with the building trades struck, and the newspapers will have to stop publication; but work continues at the gas works, and in the bakeries and cafes and shops are open. The Workmen's National Committee placarded the streets with an appeal to all workmen to leave their work, and announced that before declaring the strike the committee made a last appeal to the street car company, which refused to receive its delegates.

Two additional battalions of infantry and a detachment of artillery have been ordered to be held in readiness for emergencies.

I nhis report, Surgeon-General W. R. Thrall of Cincinnati recommanded that the office of Surgeon-General be made honorary, and the mortuary and health features, which the Surgeon-General is expected to supply, be furnished by the Adjutant-General. This recommendation is made, Dr. Thrall said, because of the impossibility of getting complete statistics from the department medical directors. He made no further report, saying that to go further would be to paim off statistics which would be entirely unreliable. Chapiain-in-Chief Thomas N. INSPECTOR-GENERAL.

In his report Inspector-General Wilfred A. Wetherbee of Boaton, says: "I find that our weakest posts, are those which do not have a woman's relief corps connected with them. It has been ruly said that the success of all great undertakings has been largely due to the influence of women. The Grand Grand Army of the Republic can give testimony to the truth of that statement. I most earnestly recommend that every post that is not so blest take steps at once for the formation of a corps. The smaller and more remotely situated the post, the more need of a corps."

ADJUTANT-GENERAL TOWLER.

The report of Adjutant-General Silas H. Towler of Minneapolis shows that on the 30th of June last ite muster-roll of the Grand Army contained 23,-15 names of members in good standing, and that there were 6511 posts. The figures as to membership show a net loss since the preceding year of 5894. The Adjutant-General says that the high-water mark of membership was attained in 1890, when it numbered 409-459, and that there has been a gradual decline since that date. Commenting on this circumstance, he says:

"It is indeed encouraging that, not-withstanding the inevitable increase in the loss by death, the gains by muster-in and reinstatement overcome it. There are still living over 900,000 of the men who were a part of that Grand Army of the '69s, and of that number less than 75,000 are over 62 years of age. This suggests to me to say that if proper energy were put forth, the Grand Army of the Republic ought to increase in numbers, instead of decrease.

"The death loss for the year as shown

The investigation was conducted in Washingtot, and the commission began its report by saying that Commissioner Evans afforded Them every opportunity to make it therough. Speaking of the results of the inquiry into special complaints, the say that many of these were without merit, but that on the other hand many meritorious claims had been thown out.

"It is time, therefore, that the subject of roads as distinguished from city streets, a subject which has thus far been neglected in our meetings, should receive the consideration which its growing importance merits. The building of a system of roads to connect different cities and town, if left to the initiative of the towns themselves, would be almost impossible of consummation. The State alone is capable of planning and executing such an improvement. The first State to take up, this question on an extensive scale was New Jersey, which has now a splendid system of highways, connecting nearly every city and village within its borders. Massachusetts has for some years been creating an excellent avaism of modern roads. During the

But the building and maintenance of macadam roads is not only of interest to the building and maintenance of macadam roads is not only of interest to

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS AM!

SAN JOSE, Oct. 2.—The fruit crop of Santa Clara county is about picked, cured and in the warehouses. A few prunes remain to be cured, but a few days more of favorable weather will see the last of the crop safely housed. It is now astimated that the prune crop will approximate $0,000,000 pounds.

The overwhelming proportion of the crop is of middle size, there being fewer samell prunes than was expected. Cars are going out as fast as they can be secured, to fill orders taken some time ago. There is no advance in the market quotations. The asking price is 2½ cent basis, and 2½ cents for outside. There is some shading of the short of the quotations for quick sales and prompt delivery.

The old crop of prunes is about cleaned out, the great bulk going into channels of consumption. Much of the new crop goes to France and Germany, All the packing-houses are working a full force.

The steamer has arrived here from Panama. The officers report that the long wharf at Ocos was ruined, presumably by the storm, and that a telegram was received at Champerico the following day from Ocos, saying it would be impossible to load or discharge freight there. A small tugboat is reported to have been sunk, but no lives were lost. The Acapulco, consequently, did not call at Ocos.

TO CONTROL THE READING. BALTIMORE, Oct. 9.—The Evening News says it is informed by an inside BALTIMORE, Oct. 2.—The Evening News says it is informed by an inside authority that the acquisition of the Reading by the Baltimore and Ohio is settled upon. It is said that the relation of the Baltimore and Ohio to the Reading would be somewhat similar to the connection between the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Baltimore and Ohio. This is that the Baltimore and Ohio will not own a majority of the Reading stock, but will possess a large portion and become the most powerful of the single stockholding interests in the property. It will thus become the dominating force in the management, and the same policy instituted by the Pennsylvania Railroad influence in the Baltimore and Ohio will be brought into play by the latter in the Reading. This means the reorganization of the operating and traffic department of the Reading.

The object in turning the control of the Reading over to the Baltimore and Ohio is generally accepted to be in order to perfect the community of ewnership scheme.

It is declared most positively that the recent issue of $42,500,000 of new Baltimore and Ohio stock is largely to pay for the Reading stock that will be turned over to the Baltimore and Ohio.

"The grateful acknowledgments of this congress are due to Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States, for his invaluable assistance in the cause of irrigation. His message to Congress in December, 1901, marked the beginning of a new epoch in the history, not only of the Arid West, but also of the whole nation, Without his powerful aid and that of his administration, it-would not have been possible to secure the passage of that great act, which will inaugurate and put into effective motion the national irrigation policy, for which we have been striving so long, Great as his administration may be, we believe that some of its achievements will redound more to the greatness of our people and the glory of our country than will the passage of the National Irrigation Act. Bisbee tolerates no Chinamen within her borders, and the new town of Douglas is following along the same lines. A couple of prosperous-looking Celestials dropped into Douglas the other day, and looked around for an opening. The reception they got was both startling and expensive. They were taken in hand by a delegation of chitsens and given a comprehensive view of the town, embracing an imight into each of the thirty-one saloons of the burg. Inasmuch as the Chinese were compelled to pay the price of drinks of the crowd in each saloon, the hospitable character of their reception can be imagined. When the work had been completed, the Chinese were taken to the depot, where they took the next train out with every appearance of satisfaction.

Allowing the same proportion of officers in transit, on shore duty, sick and on leave, it will require the officers to produce the will require the officers to produce the ships. In the mean time, officers will be daying or leaving the service through disability or by resignation. In four years it is estimated that not less than 160 vacancies will be created in this manner. We have, therefore, by this computation, 783 officers to be provided for our ships now in process of construction which we may expect to complete within four years. This manner added to the 607 which we to day lack, shows that in four years and the sense officers to come? I am informed that in those four years we can expect under existing conditions about 355 graduates of the naval academy. This still leaves us more than a thousand officers less than the proper complement.

The friends of the other Democratic nominees announce that they will be present at the meeting tomorrow night to enter their protest against an invidious distinction in favor of one candidate as against the rest of the Democratic ticket. If the attempt is made to carry out the scheme tomorrow night there will be a beautiful row.

MAJORITY FOR PARDEE.

San Francisco, Oct. 9.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At Republican headquarters today everyone was busy. The reports coming in from the country districts are all reassuring. The correspondence which the campaign and other committees have to attend to daily is very heavy. Reports from all parts of the State are of the most encouraging character, and Pardee's election is regarded by the party managers as already more than assured.

He began proceedings four years ago against the directors of his home district school, but was beaten in every trial in the lower courts. A syllabus of the opinion rendered today says: "Exercises by the teacher in the school in the school building, in school hours, and in the presence of the pupils consisting of the residing of passages from the Bible, and in the singing of songs and hymns and offering prayer to the Deity, in accordance with the doctrines, beliefs, customs or usages of sectarism churches or religious organisations, is forbidden by the Constitution of the State."

The decision of the three judges is unanimous. They add that it is not in accordance with their personal wishes, but it is a law of the State. Thomas W. Rich, an Italian grader, employed at a camp a few miles south of Omaha, shot and killed Joseph Stillekt, another grader; shot the dead man's brother through the body, and terrorised the camp, holding them at bay, while he made his eacape. The trouble arose over the possession of a hand car.

The steamship Apache collided with the Iroquois in Charleston Harbor. The Apache was beached, and the Iroquois returned to her wharf.

Miss Alice Fisher, a young woman employed in the Government Printing Office, was shot and instantly killed at noon yesterday in Washington, by William Dougherty, an employe of the same office. Dougherty then shot and tilled himself. Jealousy was the motive. Thomas W. Rich, an Italian grader killed himself. Jealousy was the mo-tive.

United States.

[London Leader:] Notwithstanding much would-be wise head-shaking, President Rooseveit (a correspondent writes) does not seem to have been shaken in public confidence by his declaration that the big trusts must be limited by law. And the expected hostility of the moneyed men of the trusts has not yet, as they say on the other side, "materialised," For there is no change visible in the voting in the State of Maine, and the Republican conventions of half a dozen States have already nominated Mr. McKinley's successor as candidate for the Presidency, though the election is not due for some six and thirty months yet. There seems no doubt that "Teddy Roosevelt," as every one calls him, has won the confidence of the people of the United States irrespective of party. And, now that the Democratic party is shivered into irreconcilable atoms, the whole country is likely enough to raily round the President.

FIREMAN ALLEGED FORGER.

William Nusser Taken to Santa Ans to Answer for Uttering Check, Signing

Sheriff Lacy of Orange county came to Los Angeles yesterday and left last evening with William Nusser, who is charged with forgery. Nusser was a substitute employed in the fire department, and has two brothers in the service. He is alleged to have forged the name of his father, Antone Nusser, of Garden Grove to a check for $15 on the Columbia Savings Bank, and passed it here. Some weeks ago ex-Capt. Roeder stated that Nusser had given him a bogus check, but as he made good the amount he was not prosecuted.

The members of the fire department say that Nusser is mentally weak, and his erratic actions prevented his securing a position as a permanent member of the department. It is probable that the case will not be prosecuted.

A Hundred and Fifty Bargain-Friday Sales to Our Credit

This week's Bargain-Friday sale is the one hundred and fiftieth event in this series. The other one hundred and forty-nine have been, as you know, very successful. We commenced this movement something like three years ago. Ever since that time Bargain-Friday has been house cleaning day at The Broadway. All short lines, broken assortments, remnants and short lengths are placed on sale at prices that in some instances do not cover the cost of manufacture. Besides this aggregation of trade-compelling bargains are numerous lots from our different departments that are purchased especially to add force to our own accumulation of Friday bargains. We always have some things on sale Friday which you cannot buy at any other time. As we've often told you, many lots are so short that they are sold out in the early morning hours, so it's the spry ones that really get the best end of our Bargain-Friday business. However, come when you may, early or late, you'll find tempting bargains every Friday.

PIONEER' FUNERAL.

The funeral of Henry Rieman, the ploneer book-seller, who died Monday of heart disease, was held yesterday afternoon and was attended by a large number of friends. Interment was at Rosedale. Mr. Rieman served in the Civil War up to the battle of Fort Hudson, in which engagement he lost an arm, and at the close of the war he filled various official positions, serving for twelve years as deputy United States Marshal at New Orleans. He came to Los Angeles in 1883, and for many years conducted a news stand in the postoffice building and later at No. 414 South Main street. A widow and daughter survive him.

More Manufacturing in Indiana Today Than in Connecticut.

ST MERRIT SUTLER.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TRATE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—1s the manufacturing West to overshadow the manufacturing East Is the star of industrial empire, which has so long shome upon the Atlantic Coast States, to follow the star of agricultural empire and the star of political empire in their westward courses? Are the manufacturing centers of the East to take a subordinate place before the giant-grown centers of the West.

If the facts of the last census are to be taken as an earnest of things to come, the answer to these questions is emphatically yes. Although the East come, the answer to these questions is emphatically yes. Although the East still leads the West by more than two billion dollars' worth of manufactured products, yet the West is growing faster than the East. In the ten years, ending with 1900, ten States of the so-called Middle West made a greater relative gain than ten States of the seaboard in not only the total value of products, but also the number of establishments, the number of wage earners, the amount of wages paid and the cost of material used. Only in the increase of capital invested did the Eastern States surpass the Western.

the East as a producer of manufacture.

That the West will steadily continue to grow at a more rapid rate than the East is manufactury probable. Its manufactured products were worth $1.-191,520,608. In 1890 the total was $2.148.498.-191,520,608. In 1890 the total was $2.148.498.-191,520,608.

In the increase in number of manufacturing establishments between 1890 and 1900, the difference between the two sections is even more marked than in respect to products. Here are the features.

West 120,835 179,898
While the establishments in the East increased 40,884 or 24.9 per cent. those of the West increased 59,163 or 49 per cent—almost double. In 1900 there were in the West 16,000 more establishments than there were in the East in 1800.
In number of wage earners the West made a relative, though not an actual gain. The totals were:

1880. 2900.

West 1,821,800,022 The increase for the East was $926, 542,547 or 34,9 per cent. The West in-creased $710,256,768 or 33.9—another relcreased $710,256,768 or 22.39—another ative gain. It was in the significant matter of capital invested that the East made its only gain over the West, both actually and relatively. Here are the fig-

East ... 2,021,584,393 35,596,22,609
West ... 2,021,584,312 2,889,003,023
The increase of capital in eastern manufactures was $1,787,640,656 or only a small fraction under 50 per cent. The increase of capital in the West was $867,418,711 or 42.9 per cent. Putting this difference in another form, more than $2 of additional capital was put into manufacturing in the East to every dollar so invested in the West.

The explanation of this discrepancy is not difficult. Capital, proverbially timid, sought first the field that had paid large profits in the past. Moreover the East, which normally has more ready capital than the West, doubtless invested it largely in that section and in its most important industry. And again the investment of western capital in local manufactures was doubtless retarded by the agricultural prosperity, which invited the enlargement of farming operations and absorbed a large share of the uninvested money of the West.

As a result of the difference in cap-

What a mysterious object is this wanderer from the depths of space, now visiting the neighborhood of the sun perhaps for the first time in its history—a history which reaches back into the dim cons of a past so mighty that it may be coeval with the birth of the solar system.

From the fearful cold of interstellar space, where its carbon and hydrogen gases were reduced to inert solid particles, it is speeding with enormous velocity toward the sun, where its frozen vapors will be melted and expanded, and thrown into violent internal commotion, and our astronomers will follow the phenomenal changes with their telescopes, their spectroscopes, and their sensitive cameras, and a complete history of its marvelous physical changes will be given to the scientific world, and translated into language that can be understood by the intelligent reader.

FAN-TAN DEMOLITION.

Raided by Officers and Outfit Degambling operations. In Chinatown there are half a dozen or more fantan games conducted almost openly. Into these gambling resorts, which are handsomely furnished, almost any Chinaman can be admitted, but white men are kept out. As a measure of precaution the doors are doubly barred, watchmen are stationed at the doors; there are signals by which these watchmen can communicate with those inside, and there are avenues of escape which the police know not of.

It is practically impossible for the officers to gain admittance, and even more difficult for them to secure evidence to convict either players or managers.

more difficult for them to secure evidence to convict either players or managers.

Last night Chinatown was treated to a surprise, the like of which it has not had for years. Six officers appeared at the door of a gambling house on Ferguson alley, near Los Angeles street, and tried to force an entrance. The doors were barred. With crowbars and axes the officers forced their way, only to find that the gamblers had fied. In the room was a complete gambling outfit of the finest make. The stakes and other paraphernalia were on the tables. The officers wrecked the place. Tables were cut to pieces, the heavy doors demolished, the secret-signal system knocked out, and when they got through, the place looked like the remnant of a dynamite explosion.

The raid attracted an immense crowd, but the officers had barred the front doors and even the owner of the building could not have sotten in. This is but the first of a series of raids which will be made.

Another Mongoose.

Those who had fun over one of the Horticultural Commissioners' attempts to destroy the mongoose lately of the Chutes may be interested in the experience an American college had last week with one of these little Rikki-Tik-ki-Tavies. The authorities had imported a mongoose for the purpose of studying its habits, and were compelled to give bonds that the animal would be killed within ten days after it was landed. What became of the famous mongoose of Los Angeles is a mystery that could only be unraveled by one equal to Sherwhere but a few trees are infected with red spider or silver mite the device may be applied cheaply. Reports show that the red spider is increasing to an alarming extent over a limited area of city Omee—50 butmon il.com. Prinsipal.

A prominent Florida ndvertiser sets forth in bold type in many eastern publications that he will sell a pamphlet in a certain county in his State for 56 cents. Herein lies one great difference between Florida and California. The Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles gives away tons of fine brochures, books, maps and pamphlets every year. Advertisements done in the highest degree of the printer's art every year. Advertisements done in the highest degree of the printer's art are as free as water. While in Buffalo last year I noticed a vast difference in the methods of the Florida exhibitors and those of Southern California. At the former exhibit little reading matter of an attractive character was in evidence. There was plenty of it about the Wiggins head-quarters and the attendants presented it after engaging the "lookers" and finding just what phase of California life was wanted. Hence there was little waste of material and great good brought about through what was distributed. Other countries have a great deal to learn in the matter of advertising, and you will see it exemplified at St. Louis when that great fair is in progress in 1904.

Unfinished Report.

A correspondent refers to an article in last Friday's farm department on pollination of the apple. The full report will be far more valuable, and may be published in pumphlet form as soon as the year's observations are finished. For several months the apple growers at Compton, Downey and Cerritos have been gathering data upon all points relating to apple culture. The work has been in charge of a practical apple grower, who will compile a full report from his own and his neighbors' notes. I believe this doesnem will be one of the most useful ever compiled in this section, and may contain some rather novel information. For more than a year general efforts have been made to bring to a commercial basis the business of apple growing. Success has not been altogether flattering, and yet most substantial progress has been made as to the utility of old-time methods of handling apple diseases and pests, when the report is submitted, embody-ing experiences in pollination, disnefection, selection of varieties for profit.

Investigation Finished.

J. S. Hunter, the representative of the State University, sent into Southern California several weeks ago to sather data upon the fumigation of orchard trees, has nearly completed the field work assigned to him, and will report to his superiors about the 18th list. It is expected that the authorities will issue the report in bulletin form, and it should be valuable to all fruit growers. Mr. Hunter came into the field to make his observations and measurements himself, and fo pursuance of that policy has visited the fumigators while at work. He has also taken notes upon spraying, and while he may not be required to include that method in his report, his conclusions are none the less valuable, coming from an entirely disinterested source. The bulletin complied from Mr. Hunter's notes will be anxiously looked for, as there is much controversy this fall over the merits of the two methods of orchard disinfection. While suggest that, should any one become bothered as to which is the better method, he may easily settle the question by going out into the best oranger growing localities to see and hear for himself.

Asparagus Disease.

One is actonished at the improvements in the strawberry acreage of Los Angeles country, especially in the vicinity of Tropice and Glendale. A dose is a sometime of the strawberry acreage of Los at sometime of the strawberry acreage of Los and the strawberry acrease in the bearty acreage of Los and the strawberry acrease of the strawberry acreased of Herticulture has allowed the introduction of acceptance of the Strawberry acreased the strawberr granted. Last Staturday there was a tremendous rush of prunes, and, taking advantage of the emergency many of the men again struck for an increase of 25 cents per day, making, if granted, $2 per day. The manager felt as though he was being held up, and made a stand, refusing the last demand. He was then face to face with a serious problem, a wonderful amount of work to do and only a few hands in sight to do it. At this juncture the daughters of the steckholders of the union came to the rescue, worked all day Sunday, and so far as we are in-jumped into the ring in order to save the fruit of their fathers and their neighbors from going to absolute waste and to prevent a greater or less loss. They are at work beside those of the men who did not strike, and are content in howing that their action saved the day—and the prunes.

There is nothing very startling or unusual in the story, and they did what perhaps some would say should only be expected of them. Nevertheless, it is refreshing to find in these degenerate days, action as positive as was that of the girls referred to. It is a form of strenulty which is altogether admirable.—[California Fruit Grower.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 9.—Harry Spencer and Alian Bartlett were nearly killed while coasting down Fourth street on a bicycle yeaterday. It was believed that they were seriously injured, but on examination it was found that they had escaped with a few bruises. The hill is ateep and is sought by bicycle riders from the fact that in the center there is an asphaltum path, left there by the old traction company.

The Supervisors voted today to illuminate the clock in the tower of the Courthouse. The experiment will be made for six months by the San Diego Gas and Electric Light Company.

Lulu E. Williams, wife of De Witt Williams, foreman of the Bonita ranch, died this morning, aged 19. She leaves a child four days old.

Word was received here today that Gov. Sanginis was to leave Ensenada for La Paz this afternoon. It is the general belief here that while he may have been reinstated, yet he will be assigned to some other place where he has fewer enemies to annoy him.

The returns show a total registration in this county of 8000, divided equally between the city and county districts. There is little change from last year.

It is said that "Arisona Charlie" will not have the yacht San Diego for his trip to Tiburon Island. The yacht is being fitted up for a cruise.

PORBED ROOM-MATE. Charles Harris, alias Jim Rowback, alias William Driver, was arrested last night on a charge of carrying concealed a deadly weapon. He was parading through Chinatown with a big gun strapped to him. Half an hour before the arrest G. W. Mooman reported to the police that Harris had fobbed him of the gun and 312, but the arresting officer did not know this at the time he made the arrest, but the prisoner was recognized at the Police Station, and instead of being charged with carrying a oncealed scapon, he was booked on a tharge of burglary.

Chinks Wind Up Their Feast of the Dead - Highbinders' Rush Bumps

"The Feast of the Dead" and the cremation of the God of Förtune concluded the Thanksgiving hurrah in Chinatown, and a motley collection of ingeniously-constructed devils— and delites were returned to their lairs to await the next Celestial outbreak.

The Feast of the Dead was an elaborate affair, and, but for some lurking odors unfamiliar to even the hardlest explorers into culinary mysteries, might have tempted the living to take a chance. Whole washtubs of viands were cooked up for the spooks of the local Chinese bygone friends, and some of the messes were expensive. One mess was composed of bushels of dried mushrooms, truffles, fowls' hearts, shredded vegetables and some other ingredients that looked and smelled as if they might have been shanghaled out of the pharmacoepian or the witch's cauldron. A Chink who knew the ropes said after the feast that the dead had a real good time.

The white visitors who inquired into the antecedents of the God of Fortune were unanimous in thinking he didn't get a fair deal. This god was a young man who got thrown out of Chinese heause they were unacquainted with his father, and was requised admittance to hell because they didn't want him on general principles. Ever since he has been officiating at Chinese Thanksgiving festivals, where he always gets "roasted." The effigy had painted tears on his cheeks and looked as if he had just quit loser in a poker game.

Remedy Which Has Revolutionized the Treatment of Stomach Treahles.

The remedy is not heralded as a wonderful discovery nor yet a secret patent medicine, neither is it claimed to cure anything except dyspepsia, indigestion and stomach troubles with which nine out of ten suffer.

The remedy is in the form of pleasant tasting tablets or lozenges, containing vogetable and fruit essences, pure ascetic pepsin (government test,) golden seal and disatase. The tablets are sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Many interesting experiments to test the digestive power of Stuart's tablets show that one grain of the active principle contained in them is sufficient to thoroughly digest 3000 grains of raw meat, eggs and other wholesome food.

Stuart's tablets do not act upon the bowels like after dinner pills and cheap cathartics, which simply irritate and inflame the intestines without having any effect whatever in digesting food or curing indigestion.

If the stomach can be rested and assisted in the work of digestion it will very soon recover its normal vigor, as no organ is so much abused and overworked as the stomach.

This is the secret, if there is any secret, of the remarkable success of no organ is so much abused and overworked as the stomach.

This is the secret, if there is any secret, of the remarkable success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, a remedy practically unknown a few years ago, and now the most widely known of any trentment for stomach weakness.

This success has been secured entirely upon its merits as a digestive pure and simple because there can be no stomach trouble if the food is promptly digested.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act entirely on the food eaten, digesting it completely, so that it can be assimilated into blood, nerve and tissue.

They cure dyspepsia, water brash, sour because they furnish the digestive power which weak stomachs lack, and unless that lack is supplied it is useless to attempt to cure by the use of "tonics," "pills" and cathartics which have absolutely no digestive power.

NEWS AND BUSINESS,

Jelly Bohemians.

The Bohemia Club gave another of its merry dinners at Levy's last evening. Besides the officers, about twenty members were present. After the feast had been disposed of, brand-new stories were in order, and were dished up in good style, the yarn-spinners being led off by President Belcher and Pred Gillette. Any one telling an old or pointiess tale at these very serious meetings, is a candidate for a fine, or on second offense, for dismissal. At the next meeting Mr. Hervey will give a paper on "International Arbitration."

Is because the Brent credit system is in no way like the other kind. Every woman sees how easy it is for any little store to claim a great deal, but Brent's Great Credit House is supported by 15,000 satisfied families who have furnished their homes by the Brent system and who advise you earnestly to buy at Brent's. Everything you need can be had there—furniture, stoves, hardware, carpets, draperies, crockery—terms are adjusted to suit your convenience and prices are so low that it is all paid for without an effort. Female Suffragists Fall in With Socialists-What Will Happen?

The women of Los Angeles county are quietly getting ready to butt into politics in real earnest, and if the plans they have outlined come to fruition there may be a smashing of "push" and "anti-push" slates at the next conven-

An attempt is to be made to land some of the city offices at the coming municipal election, and to that end the municipal election, and to that end the various women's organizations are already promised the support of the Socialist votes, which number about 600 in Los Angeles.

The Women's Suffrage League of the county held its annual meeting in Salyer Hall yesterday afternoon, and there were many women present with schemes for wooing the elusive vote. In nowise daunted by the failure to secure State school suffrage through gubernatorial opposition six years ago, the women of the league are to try again, and this time they hope for sucagain, and this time they hope for suc

The first attack will be made on the places in this body for women who have agreed to give their services. If elected. Though the names of candidates are not for publication at this time, it is broadly intimated that the first choice will be from the Fifth Ward, and it is further stated that three places are reserved for them on the Socialist Labor ticket. The Eocialists in the city are willing to concede places on the school board for women, and by so doing they will secure about two hundred ardent partisans in the members of the Suffrage League besides the moral suasion wielded by the W.C.T.U. and other affiliated bodies.

WON'T PAY TAXES.

One woman statistician has compiled figures which will be presented in a paper; to be read before the Friday Morning Club today, showing that a very large number of women are regularly assessed and pay taxes in Los Angeles county, notwithstanding they are without representation in the legislative bodies. Arguing from the statements in the advance proofs of this locture, and repeating the attempts made elsewhere in a similar direction, a devoted little band of women taxpayers have agreed to stand pat on a refusal to pay taxes until they are allowed to register, and consequently to vote. WON'T PAY TAXES.

vote. This course will undoubtedly bring them into litigation, unless they pay under protest and seek to recover when they have secured the franchise, and if they adopt this alternative their experience may be that of Massachusetts and New York women who died before recovery of the taxes paid was possible. However, they are very much in earnest, and trouble will ensue for the Tax and trouble will ensue for the Tax ring themselves in an effort to find a suitable candidate for nomination as member of the Board of Education. Three candidates already are in the field and more are promised. The lattest to be announced is William Meek. president of the Meek Baking Company. Other candidates are E. H. Hutchinson and Percy V. Hammon, who is employed by the Title Guarantee and Trust Company and who announces his principal supporters as John Kingsley and G. C. de Garmo. The present member from the Second Ward, C. F. Skilling, is a candidate for the Councilmanic nomination.

Sentiment among the Republicans of the Fifth Ward seems to have centered upon Prof. L. J. Stabler, head of the scientific department of the University of Southern California, as their choice for member of the Board of Education. A committee of representative citizens waited on Prof. Stabler yeaterday and requested that he allow his name to be used as the Republican candidate. He assented and is now considered the most probable choice. Employes in the park department may move for a change of venue.

Testerday the Park Commissioners were unable to agree on the salary petition filed by the men. Two of the members thought that the gardeners should be started up the municipal wage ladder, after the policemen and fremen, and two opposed any increase in wages at this time.

An increase of 25 cents a day is asked for every laborer in the department. Greater cost of living is given as the main reason for the request.

It is not a time of year when candidates for office do hasty and rash things, and Mayor Snyder reflected some moments before making a report for the committee. The Mayor is tripping very lightly over the slippery stones that span the political rapids. It requires a very fine balance to keep to the crossing stones. In fact, the chief executive was not adverse to allowing Candidate for Mayor Powers to try his hand at the question first. The Mayor said that the committee was in favor of referring the petition to the Council just as it was.

More than $25,000 was expended the first eight months, and for the first twenty-four months the total expenditure was $219,113, as follows: Labor, $45,565; aerial material, $31,580; underground material, $35,099; cable, $46,582.

From the Offices.

City Treasurer Workman's statement for September shows that the receipts for the month were $101,772.95, and the expenditures $132.135.30. The balance, September 30, was $535.764.03.

Demands for the kindergarten and High School teachers will be ready for payment today.

Citizens want an electric light at Twelfth and Irolo street.

An appeal has been taken against the acceptance of the sidewalk on San Pedro street between Third and Fifth street. It is stated that the walk is not in accordance with the specifications.

"I think the men are paid well enough now," remarked McGarry. "The laborers get $2 a day, and there is nothing very streamous about the work. The men work eight hours, have an hour off at noon for lunch and quit work at $20 o'clock in the afternoon. If there is any extra money for parks it seems to me it should be used for park development."

"What if the men all go to laying bricks?" queried the Mayor.

"Let the new park board and the new Council decide the question, insisted Dickson.

"Isn't this board better able to decide the question than a new and inexperienced board?" demanded the Mayor.

"If this board is to make a recommendation I think the petition should be granted. I can't see any justice in increasing salaries in one department, and not in another. Everything has gone up in price."

McGarry moved that action be deferred until the first meeting in November. Dickson and McGarry voted for the motion and Russell and the Mayor against it. The tie vote lost the motion, and the petition was perfore laid on the table.

The Mayor agreed, and then the board turned to the consideration of other matters.

COURT DECIDES GRAVE POINT.

It was legally established yesterday that a husband doesn't have to go shopping to buy his wife's clothes. The man who thus struck a blow in defense of down-trodden husbands is Judge Church of Fresno, who is sitting for Judge Trask in the Superior Court.

The subject came up in a divorce suit brought by Mrs. Louise Demers against Louis H. Demers on the ground of failure to provide.

Mrs. Demers claimed that her husband did not provide her with clothes; he claimed in defense that he had given her money which she might have used for clothes but didn't.

Demers, however, wanted a divorce himself on the ground of desertion. He claims that his wife has refused to live with him in martial relations.

It seems that this was because of Demers's sister. Mrs. Demers says she offered to go back to live with him if he would provide her a house to live in. He got one on Flower strid, but when she went to look at it she found Demers's sister in possession. She said she knew from past experience that that signified that the sister was to be hend of the house. At this she backed out.

Judge Church denied both applica-

Girl-mether, Held for Neglect.

Irene McCombs, who was charged with neglect of her child, testified yesterday before Justice Austin that her real name is Rena A. Inman. She was mother of a child to a man named McCombs, but neglected to perform her duty as a mother toward it. The evidence showed that the child was diseased from birth, and that the girl had given it into the hands of a Spanish woman, but failed to pay the stipulated sum for its keep, or to supply milk and clothing. One "Buck" Kiem figured conspicuously in the evidence as her companion, and she finally disappeared with him, evidently bent on hiding herself from those who had the child. It finally died, as a result of the disease, and the mother was charged with faffure to provide. She was held in $500 ball to answer in the Superior Court.

Waylaid Little Girls.

George Qoung, a seventeen-year-old rapscallion, yesterday pleaded guilty to waylaying little girls as they passed along Eastlake Park, on their way to and from school. He kept it up for many days before he was finally arrested. He will be sentenced this morning. His father testified that he is a good boy to work, but very disobedient. Craig Paid Up.

Alexander Craig, who was arrested in San Diego and brought here to answer a misdemeanor charge for issuing a worthless check, was arraigned before Justice Austin yesterday, and pleaded guilty to the charge. He was released upon payment of $20.10, covering loss and expenses in the case. FRANCIS T. UNDERHILL, Esq., Owner.

Little Brown Men Clash. K. Nishida, a forbidding-looking Jap, yesterday smashed a fellow-brownie, named G. Hirans, over the head with a heavy car-cleaning brush, cutting a gash three inches long. The two were cleaning cars in the Santa Fé yard, when they got into a dispute, with the result stated. Nishida was given sixty days on the chain gang.

Nubs of Court News. Poor, drunken Stella Hathaway, who no sooner gets out than she gets in again, was yesterday sentenced to thirty days for drunkenness.

Kung Yen was arraigned yesterday for falling to put the label on oplum sold to a "capper." He claimed the purchaser would not let him put the label on, and pleaded not guilty to the charge. The case will be tried Monday.

Striking Electrical Scene on the Morthwestern Hills Last Night—New Building Nearing Completion.

Striking and beautiful was the scene presented on the northwestern hills last night, and visible to a large section of the city. The new five-story wing and seven-story tower of the Sisters' Hospital were brilliantly illuminated with many electric lights.

The building is lighted by a private electric plant, installed on the grounds, and from the many large windows of the prominent tower, and 100-foot wing floods of light radiated, making a beautiful picture. There were no special exercises, nor was the building thrown open to visitors. The public dedication will come later.

Completion of the building is awaiting the arrival of a large quantity of Italian marble, which has been delayed in shipment. Shortly after this is received, the new wing will be completed. Several prominent Catholic men in the city have in charge the plans of a formal dedication and celebration over the opening of the new wing. They will meet Sunday, the 18th inst., to definitely fix the date, which has not yet been set. At the opening ceremonies addresses will be made by Bishop Montgomery and other prominent Catholics.

The hospital was founded and is conducted by the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul, and has been located on the present site about seventeen years. The completion of the new wing will make it one of the largest and best arranged hospitals in the Southwest, and several more members of the order will be detailed for service here. The sisters have received donations from liberal triends for the furnishing order will be detailed for service here. The sisters have received donations from liberal friends for the furnishing of eight of the new rooms, and they still require furnishings for eleven rooms and five diet kitchens.

The grounds in front of the new building are being beautified, and the grand entrance on Sunset boulevard is completed.

DR. BARNUM'S IMPROVEMENTS ON THE X-RAY MACHINE.

Large Attendance at Yesterday's Meeting of the Southern California Home-opathic Medical Society—Heads of Bureaus Named for the Year.

One of the most interesting papers delivered yesterday at the closing session of the annual meeting of the Southern California Homeopathic Medical Society, was that of Dr. O. Sheppard Barnum of this city, entitled "Electricity in General Practice," in which the author set forth the principle of a valuable discovery made by him during the past few days, whereby the power of the X-ray is increased, it is claimed, at least 100 per cent. Dr. Barnum gave the history of treatment by electricity and the X-ray, and said: "The value of the ray in the treatment of cancer has already been demonstrated, and is increased by this new method of applying the x-tay through the well-known Roentgen tubes. It was discovered that by introducing a series of small spark gaps in the circuit on each side of the tube, the penetrability of the ray is increased by at least 100 per cent. The possibilities of this discovery are, in part, as follows:

The association passed a resolution of thanks to the newspapers of Los Angeles for the publication of the proceedings of the different sessions, to the management of the Westminster Hotel for courtesies extended, and to Dr. Boynton, the retiring president, for his acceptable handling of the meeting.

The medicos declare that this, the twelfth annual meeting of their association, has been one of the most successful in its history, the attendance having been good, and more general discussion aroused than ever before. The attendance at each session was about fifty members, and about twenty-five carefully-prepared papers were read.

GONE EAST TO MARRY.

Police Surgeon En Route to Boston To Wed Woman Who Visited Here Three Years Ago.

Three Years Ago.

Dr. Clarence Pierce, city Police Surgeon, announced to his friends several days ago that he was going East. He stated that he would visit the various large hospitals, and expected to return home greatly benefited by what he observed. It develops that he didn't tell it all. He has gone East to wed.

There is a little romance connected with his trip, or, rather, his trip is the culmination of a romance. Several years ago his brother, Rev. C. C. Pierce, was in charge of the pastorate of a Baptist church at Chelsea, Mass., a suburb of Boston, and from there came to the Memorial Baptist Church of this city. A member of his congregation at Chelsea was Miss Florence Loring Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Cook. After Rev. Pierce came to Los Angeles, Mrs. Pierce invited Miss Cook to visit her, and three gears ago the young woman spent the winter here. She met Dr. Pierce, who showed her marked attention. Upon her return home there began a correspondence, which continued.

The culmination of this acquaintance and the subsequent correspondence will occur the 22d inst., when, at Chelsea, Mass., Dr. Pierce will lead Miss Clark to the altar.

On his journey home Dr. Pierce will visit receiving hospitals in most of the large cities. He expects to return during the first week in November.

ORANGE INDUSTRY PAYS.

Orange groves are in good demand at increased prices. W. T. Bill has purchased the Anderson place of ten acres, at the corner of Olive avenue and Center street, for $16,000, or $1600 per, acre. C. E. Owen has disposed of his nice ten-acre orchard in the same locality for $15,000. Heretofore $1000 per acre for good, bearing orchards has been regarded as a fair price, out recent sales indicate that there is a decided upward tendency in the orange grove market. The industry certainly pays, for over four hundred ange grove market. The industry cer-tainly pays, for over four hundred arres have this year been planted with young trees, while numerous young ofchards are usit coming in to bearing. BUSINESS SURPRISES.

ed to be imperative by the City Council, and at its next meeting a special election will be called for the purpose of voting on a bond issue for that amount. The most important work contemplated is on the sewer system, most of the money being apportioned to those improvements. The proposed fund is divided as follows: For storm sewers, $22,500; for sewer extensions, $30,000; new public building, $5000; for plaza and park walks, $5000.

The tax rate for the fiscal year is 80 cents on the $100 assessed valuation against a rate of 76 cents last year This has been subdivided by the Coun-cil as follows: General fund, 28 cents

DAMAGE SUIT PETERS OUT.

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 9.—The James Price $5000 damage suit against Matilda D. Preston of Daggett, and Charles M. Lestrange of Barstow is all off, so far as the courts are concerned, Some time ago the suit against Matilda Preston was dismissed by the plaintiff, unknown to his attorney. Investigation proved that Price had compromised with Mrs. Preston for the alleged amount of $50, and had left the country. Yesterday the suit against Constable Lestrange was dismissed by stipulation, the plaintiff's attorney deeming it a hopeless task to make a big.-damage suit stick, after the plaintiff had compromised with one of the defendants for a nominal sum.

The trouble originated over Price being taken into custody at Barstow by Lestrange at the instance of Mrs. Preston, who runs a boarding-house at Daggett, and who alleged that Price was trying to run away and beat her out of a board bill. Price's feelings were tremendously outraged, and the damage suit followed, and petered out in a manner that filled the heart of the plaintiff's attorney with disgust.

as Southwest. The history of the mine is a common one, in that costly machinery was installed before a proper amount of development work was done. The surface ledge was an immense one, and to a depth of ninety feet the ore values were enough to bring in large profits to the company. At that depth, however, the ledge "faulted" and the shaft ran into barrenen ground. Miners aver that the slip could be traced by intelligent work, but the company, a close corporation of New York capitalists, appears to have reached its limit of expenditure. In all, it is understood that nearly $300,000 has been sunk in the enterprise more than has been produced. A couple of years ago some expert made a report that 90,000 tons of ore, averaging $3 a ton could be extracted from the surface workings. On this basis the company made a further expenditure of $25,000, mainly for the installation of a fine cyaniding reduction plant, with capacity of 100 tons of ore a day. Actual workings have demonstrated that the ground carries no such values as told by the expert. With the passing of the mine the postoffice of Liscom is to be abandoned.

The Phoenix mine lies about thirty-five miles north of Phoenix in the Cave Creek district. This district is permeated with mineral velns, yet, somehow, has never been much of a producer. To the southward most of the iedges are free-milling gold ore. To the northeast the ore grows baser, until on the divide above the Verde the main mineral is copper, found in the form of sulphides. One of the richest of the developed properties is owned by Marcel Dugas, who lately, in a thirty-foot shaft, struck ore running as high as $2000 to the ton in gold.

SOCIAL NOTES.

Last night was preachers' night. In the Universalist Church parlors a reception was tendered by the congregation to Rev. S. G. Dunham, the new pastor, and Mrs. Dunham. The general arrangements for the affair were in the hands of Mrs. M. Rosenbaum, Mrs. F. R. Harris and Miss Dutton. The church had been prettily decorated and dainty refreshments were served after a round of hand-shaking. Rev. and Mrs. Dunham were assisted in recelving their parishioners by Rev. and Mrs. E. L. Conger, Mr. and Mrs. William Rogers and Miss Bessie Richards. At the Lincoln-avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. and Mrs. Afred Inwood were the guests of honor at a social given in honor of the return of the pastor to the congregation by the recent conference. At the North Pasadena Methodist Episcopal Church the reception had a double meaning. It was in the nature of a farewell to the retiring pastor, Rev. I. L. Two Hundred Tax Payers Petition for Municipal Ownership, But Trustees Are Believed to Favor Granting Fifty-year Franchise-Trolley Interest.

SAN PEDRO, Oct. 2.—Agitation of the water question seems ceaseless. The advocates of municipal ownership are determined and active, as evidenced by a monster petition presented to the Board of Trustees Tuesday evening. It bears 200 names of taxpayers of San Pedro, protesting ogainst the granting of a fifty-years' franchise to the Sesside Water Company.

A communication has been received from the Seaside Company, which states that its attorneys have carefully, considered the franchise drafted by City Attorney Frank Karr, and that with some minor changes, incorporated in a second of months of the company.

any other franchise," says the company. "We are satisfied that the feeling is a result of a misconception of the situation, and when the people understand the obligations that necessarily accompany municipal ownership will be unanimous. In other words, the people favoring municipal ownership believe that municipal ownership means lower water charges or taxes. They will find, however, that either the water rates will be largely increased, or the general tax correpany, but is simply awaiting a more satisfactory agreement in regard to the draft of the franchise. Citizens seem to feel that they have had deal-ings and trouble enough with the wa-ter company, and that the municipality speaker of the evening being ex-Con-gressman Thomas J. Geary. Harry Seightlitz, Democratic nomines for the Assembly from this district, presided. The other speakers were: Robert J. Adcock, candidate for District Attor-ney; Z. W. Craig, for State Senator from the Thirty-fourth District; M. J. Winters, for Public Administrator; Wilson, for Sheriff: Smiley, for County Clerk; Brewer, for 'fax Collator, who is after the Democratic nomination for Street Superintendent of Los Angeles.

Geary was the last speaker. He dwelt at length upon the question of trusts, and said that Democraby furnishes the only remedy for the evil. He expressed the utmost "egard for President Roosevelt, but vaid that he thought he had been misinformed on many of the important questions of the day. The speaker than turned to labor, referring to the coal strike in the anthracite regions, and saying that it had since come to pass that the operators were displeased with plain American titles, and had to seek abroad for the name of "baron." He spoke highly of Dr. Pardee, and said that the only objection he has to his candidacy is his profession; that he never knew of a doctor who made a good lawmaker, and the people should vote for Lane for that reason.

FOR FOREST PROTECTION. A petition is being widely circulated and well signed, asking the Secretary of the Interior and the Land Departof the Interior and the Land Department to continue the forest ranger service in the San Dimas Cañon during the winter months on trail and fire guard work that will the better insure the protection of this part of the range. The San Dimas Cañon is much frequented as a pleasure resort and is more than usually exposed to fire owing to the very heavy covering of brush on the mountains. The force is being reduced to seven men, which is not considered safe by those most conversant with the needs of the range.

DECISIONS WHICH LED TO THE PRESI DENCT OF NORTHWESTERN UNIVERS ITY—THOROUGH FROM START—LABORS FOR HIGHER EDUCATION AT UNIVER PENNSYLVANIA AND CHI

President of Northwestern University.)

I HAVE been asked by the editor of Like series to set forth what I consider to have been the important decisions of my life. Important, of course, means important for me, for my own work, my own activity, and my own thought. I cannot consider that these decisions have been of any especial importance for anybody else, or that they can be looked upon as of great tignificance from any point of view except my own. And yet perhaps the experience of even the most humble individual mmy be of interest and value to every other human being if there is anything in it which is typical or common one of the early decisions which I had to make in my own life and which I regard as of great importance, for myself at any rate, was accasioned by the foresight and vigor of a mother whose influence over her children was dominating in more ways than one, and that was the determination to secure the best possible education which the schools of this country or of Europe afforded. I remember distinctly when, at the age of 12, the question was to be decided whether I was to go to one school or another. I was allowed to choose between two schools. And I chose, I must coufess now as I look back upon it, probably under the skillful direction of my mother, the one which was known for its severity and strictness, for the closeness with which it exacted the very utmost amount of work in quantity and the very best in too far in both directions, for it drove many away from the school who might have been won for higher and better educational standards if a little more wise indulgence had been practiced.

EARLY SCHOOL TRAINING. The old Illinois State Normal School or State Normal University, as it was called, founded on the plains of Central State authorities, and support the most experienced normal faculty which could be found in suntry at that time, was the intended in the factor of the perhaps more men and make influenced in a positive in a positive influenced in a positive influenced in a positive in a po ate work of my career. My preparatory work had been or rather an advanced character, and I therefore made up my mind very soon after taking certain additional courses in the classics, mathematics and mistory, that I should select some line of study to which I should give special consideration. Here again, of course, was an opportunity for an important decision.
What line of study was most in accordance with my own tastes, with my future integests, with the possibility of cordance with my own tastes, with my future integests, with the possibility of future service? Here again I found myself influenced far more than I knew at the time by the tastes which my mother had developed in me by the books which she had put into my hands, and to which she had called my attention in boyhood. Among these were the writings of John Stuart Mill, which exercised a powerful influence on my development. I thus determined to make a speciality of economics and politics.

When I had finished the curriculum of this school the necessity of another decision presented itself. I was offered a position to teach at a salary far exceeding my modest anticipations, and, I must also say, far exceeding what I was able to get five years later after completing my university course. The question to be decided was, "Shall I take this salary and this position, or shall I work my way directly through college and university, with such assistance as I might be able to get from my parents?" After long deliberation I decided to refuse the position and continue my work immediately in the higher schools. I have never regretted the decision, and I have always regarded it as an extremely important one in my own life. If I had taken up the work of teyching at the time I believe I should have succeeded tolerably well, but certainly the pursuit of a higher education would have been delayed for some years, if not put off permanently, by the exigencies of active teaching life. to make a specialty of economics and politics.

The facilities at that time for the study of this class of subjects were very meager at Harvard, as they were in all American universities. And it seemed clear that if I would find the best crycrtunities in that department I must turn my attention to Europe. My friends advised me strongly against the step, but after due deliberation I made what I considered at the time an important decision, and which, as it turned out, tocame one of the most important decisions of my life—namely, to get access to the very best teachers in these particular subjects which the world afto ded.

A STUDENT AT HALLE. AT NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY

My friends advised me strongly against the step, but after due deliberation I made what I considered at the time an I made what I considered at the time an I more and the considered at the time and I more and the considered at the time and I more and the considered at the time and I more and the considered at the time and I more and the considered at the time and I more and the considered at the time and I more and AT NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY Having decided to attend college, the next question was. "Which one?" And here again a momentous decision presented itself. My own desire had been to go immediately to Harvard University, as I had become convinced that it was the institution in the country which stood for culture in the highest education in a peculiarly distinct way. My parents, however, desired that I should attend an institution nearer home, at least for some time. And so I entered the college department of Northwestern University.
This decision was an important one for me, as it gave me an opportunity to become acquainted with a first-class western college and with the life and motives and ideals of such an institution before entering upon the wider training as it was at that time of a great institution like Harvard.
Northwestern University was at that thankful. I was the first, as it turned out, of young Americans who studied at the same institution, and in the same department. Halle had long been celebrated as a place to study theology, and many of the most prominent american clergymen have studied there for a longer or shorter time. But I believe I was the first of my own generation, at any rate, to take up the study of economics and politics—at Halle. Since that time such men as Patten of the University of Pennsylvania, Ely of the University of Wisconsin, Jenks of Cornell University, and a half dozen other men, occupying prominent gostilons in American universities have studied at Halle, and several of them have taken degrees in the same institution. training as it was at that time of a great institution like Harvard.

Northwestern University was at that time, as it has since continued to be, the largest institution under denominational control in this country. While it was not administered in any narrow sectarian spirit, it was conducted as a distinctly Christian institution under the auspices of the Methodist Church. Its social and educational life presented a most interesting contrast to that of Harvard. As the leading university of the largest denomination that of Harvard. As the leading university of the largest denomination in the United States it exercised a wide influence in determining the conception of higher education entertained by the average man. And with every breadening of its work, with every piae in its standards, it raised the fatellectual level and educational standards of the entire Methodist body, and this indirectly the whole American people.

STUDYING AT HARVARD. After a period at Northwestern University I determined to carry out the plan which I had originally formed of attending Harvard University. I en-tered that institution after finishing the strictly colligiate or undergradu-sylvania, and was obliged again to decide between university work and secondary work. I decided to enter the university work as that for which I had prepared myself especially, and that in which, on the whole, I thought I should be able to do the best service. My studies in economics and politics had led me to believe that the curricula in American universities should be immensely extended in the direction of enlarging these studies by the addition of other practical subjects. A new university curriculum should be svolved, which should have the same relation to the needs of the future business men, as existing curricula in the law and medical schools for the lawyer and physician.

DEVELOPS BUSINESS SCHOOL.

DEVELOPS BUSINESS SCHOOL. About this time I received a call as ssistant professor of politics and conomics to Harvard University. And have taken degrees in the same institution.

Upon returning to this country, I was face to face with the necessity of making another decision, and one of two careers commended itself to me, either that of a practicing lawyer, or that of a practicing lawyer, or that of a teacher in lower or higher schools. I took up the study of law, and for nearly two years read for the bar examination. By that time it was perfectly clear to me that my interests lay in the direction of educational work, and I made another momentous decision—to devote myself to the work of education, either secondary or higher.

ENTERS EDUCATIONAL FIELD.

At first I began in the field of secondary education, and for six years acted as principal of a high school. In the mean time, I was carrying on my istudies in economics and politics, and at the end of that time received a call to a chair in the University of Pennsylvania, and was obliged again to decide between university work and secondary work. I decided to enter the university work as that for which I had prepared myself especially, and that in which, on the whole, I thought I should be able to do the best service. My studies in economics and politics had led me to believe that the curricula in American universities should be immensely extended in the direction of enlarging these studies by the addition of other practical subjects. A new university our riculum should be evolved, which should have the same relation to the needs of the received of the roots of countless assorting the process of the roots of countless assorting the roots of countless assorting the process of the roots of countless assorting the process of the roots of countless assorting the process of countless assorting the roots of countless assorting the roots of countless assorting the process of the roots of countless assorting the process of countless assorting the roots of count Every such removal means the tear-ng up by the roots of countless asso-lations, means in a certain sense the ing up by the roots of countless asso-ciations, means in a certain sense the loosening of one's grip on life. Not all' trees will bear transplanting after they have reached the middle period of their growth. But on full consideration I ac-cepted the offer, and for six years I labored joyfully and ceaselessly in the work of helping to lay the foundation and street the superstructure in a mar-velous institution, managed and con-trolled by marvelous men. PRESIDENT OF NORTHWESTERN.

Then came a call to the presidency o portant decision had been forced upon me for years than that involved in this call, namely, whether I should give up the work of a scholar and teacher for that of an administrative officer. I had refused several similar offers from other institutions before, but this was a call from my alma mater, or rather from one of them, for I consider that I have three, Northwestern, Harvard and Halle. It was imperative it came from my own church; it was such a one as my parents would have wished me to accept. I shrank from the responsibility, from the work and care. For the position of university president in a great institution is one of unceasing labor and anxiety, rendered peculiarly wearing by the constant conviction that no man can properly perform its duties. But after all, I feit that I ought not to refuse this call to work for an institution to which I owed so much.

RAILROAD BEATS BROKERS.

Unique Tickets Contain Photograp! and Complete Discription of Purchaser-Can't Be Fooled. [Boston Post:] A scheme for the prevention of the fraudulent use of season tickets on the Boston and Maine Railroad has just gone into effect.

The scheme was thought of some time ago, but was not adopted until about August 1. Each ticket has on the inside cover a photograph of the purchaser, with his name, his complexion and his he ght. Conductors will not accept the tickets from anyone but the original of the photograph.

The season tickets are issued for a term of three months at very low rates. Brokers have bought these tickets under fictitious names and sold them to individuals, making a great deal of money. They can no longer do this, and if John Smith can use either the name or the ticket.

The circular issued by the passenger department of the road says: "On account of the many abuses of season tickets which have been brought to our attention. It has been decided that hereafter all season tickets reading between points where the three months rate is $50 and over—shall bear the photograph and autograph of the person in whose name they are issued. Intending purchasers will, therefore, present when ordering tickets an unmounted photograph of recent date, in size $22 inches.

"Agents will forward photographs to this office with the order, carefully noting whether it is a good likeness or not: if not, refusing same.

"In proper space on the ticket will be punched with an 'L' punch the complexion, whether light, medium or dark, and the stature, whether short, medium or tail, and it is expected that agents will take care in punching the descrip-[Boston Post:] A scheme for the pre ention of the fraudulent use of season
